“Ask, and it will be given you; search, and you will find; knock, and the door will be opened for you.”
Matthew 7:7

I love a good question. A good question is one that makes you think, it makes you dig into the recesses of your memory and experience, it dredges up thoughts that may not have passed through your mind in years. A good question can be challenging, sometimes a stumper, but always, always, always a good question will incite further questions, exploration, and discovery.

While at home on maternity leave, I had the opportunity to watch a lot more television than I normally do, and one of the shows I got hooked on was reruns of “How It’s Made” on YouTube. It didn’t really matter what they were making: I enjoyed watching light bulbs being created as much as I enjoyed watching high-end alpine skis glued and shaved into shape. A favorite from the past few weeks was all about how tea is made, from seed to cup. One episode leads naturally to the next, and on to the next. Interests I never knew I had pop up like flowers. For me, “How It’s Made” is full of good questions that lead me into new questions and new discoveries.

I love asking good questions, but even more so, I love discussing good questions with others. As a pastor, questions seem to be kind of my wheelhouse. “What was Jesus like as a kid?” “What does the Bible mean when it says...?” “Can Christians believe in Evolution?” “Why does an all powerful God allow bad things to happen?” I never promise to offer anyone an answer, and if I’ve done my job right I hope to leave people with more questions than they came with! But in many ways, that’s the point of religion. Religion, no matter how you practice it, revolves around the big questions of life and death, morality and evil, dark and light, what it means to be human, and who is God? Churches, synagogues, mosques, temples, we all provide a space for asking and exploring the good questions, the big questions that sit on our hearts and in our minds.

I want you to share your questions with me! What bothers you about the Bible? What confuses you about Jesus? What keeps you up at night? Is there a part of our worship service you just don’t understand? Ask away! During the month of May, I invite you to write your questions to me via email, or jot them down (legibly!) and place them in the boxes in the Narthex. Over the next couple weeks there will be an index card included in the bulletin each week as a place for you to write down your questions. You can ask anonymously or with your name attached, either is fine. During the Sundays in June I’ll take on some of your biggest questions in my sermons each week. I don’t promise any easy answers, or even any answers at all, but I do promise I will try to leave you with a deeper understanding and a few more questions to take home and ponder. Good questions mature our faith, they teach us and shape us into better disciples of Jesus, and they help us grow into the people we are called to be. So, let’s ask some good questions!

The United Methodist Women provided the Good Friday meal during Holy Week Services. These ladies provide a service to our church through their ministries and missions to various charities and non profit organizations. They are the unsung heroes of our congregation and we give them many thanks for all they do.

First United Methodist Church welcomes

into the congregation.

Brady received Christian baptism and was confirmed as a member of Christ's holy Church. Brady was received into the membership of First United Methodist Church on April 12, 2015

"May the Lord give His angel charge over you, to guide you in all your ways." Psalm 91:11

During Holy Week Services, the offering for the Fairfield County Community Food Bank totaled $830.50. A big thank you to all who contributed food and/or money.

FUMC enjoyed having Dr. Rev. Cathy Jamieson-Ogg in the pulpit for the Easter service. James Belman heard his first sermon from our District Superintendent!

Trustees Report

First United Methodist has contracted the services of a structural engineer through Dennis Corporation to provide a detailed report so the Trustees can move forward to repair the roof of the sanctuary. We will keep the congregation informed on the findings of this report and what steps the church will need to take to make the necessary repairs.

Thanks Be to God

The congregation raised $464 to support Gideon International in their mission of distributing bibles throughout the world.

Epworth's Annual Mother's Day Offering

Sunday, May 10, 2015

Holly's childhood was in disarray.

Her family was in a destructive cycle.

Then Epworth stepped in to help.

*Break the cycle.
Give generously.*

Mothers have a special way
Of saying, 'I love you',
A love that God has given them,
A love that will hold true
For Mothers sacrifice so much,
Providing for the home,
Creating there an atmosphere
That reflects God's love alone.

Side Note

In keeping in compliance with the Safe Sanctuary Policy, beginning immediately, the side door and the back door will be locked on Sunday mornings. If you do not have a code for the backdoor, please call the church office. If you need assistance to gain access to the handicapped access at the backdoor, please see an usher. We thank you in advance for your consideration and patience as we work diligently to ensure the safety of our children and our congregation.

“The best thing of all is God is with us.”

John Wesley
